IN MEMORIAM

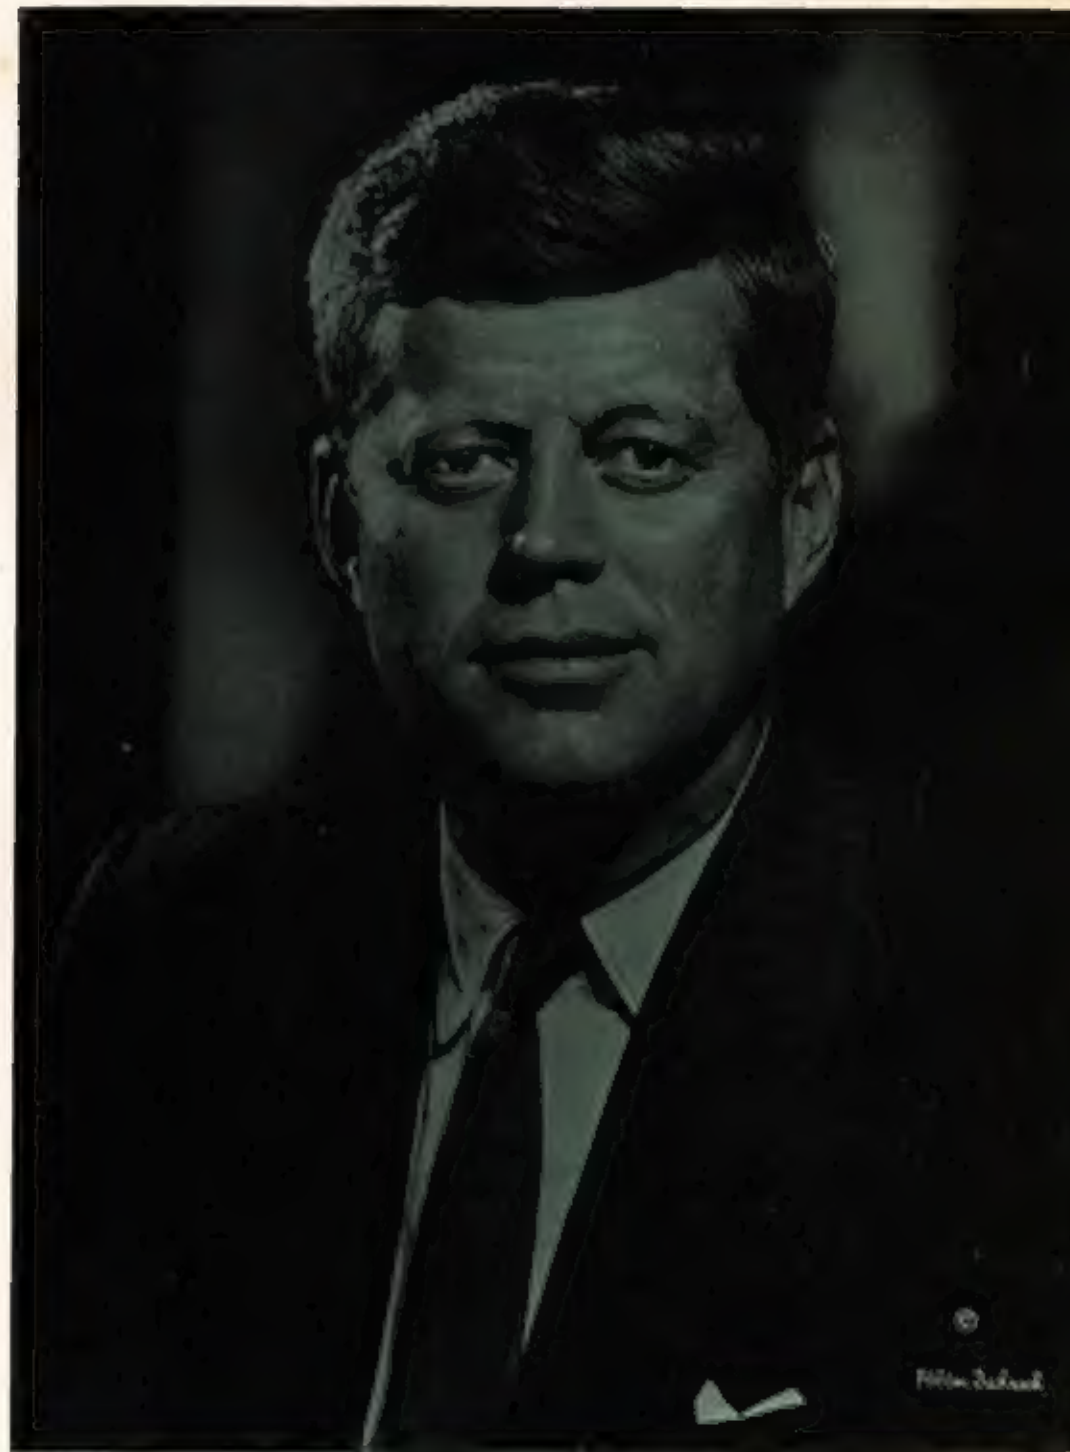

President of United States, John Fitzgerald Kennedy . . .

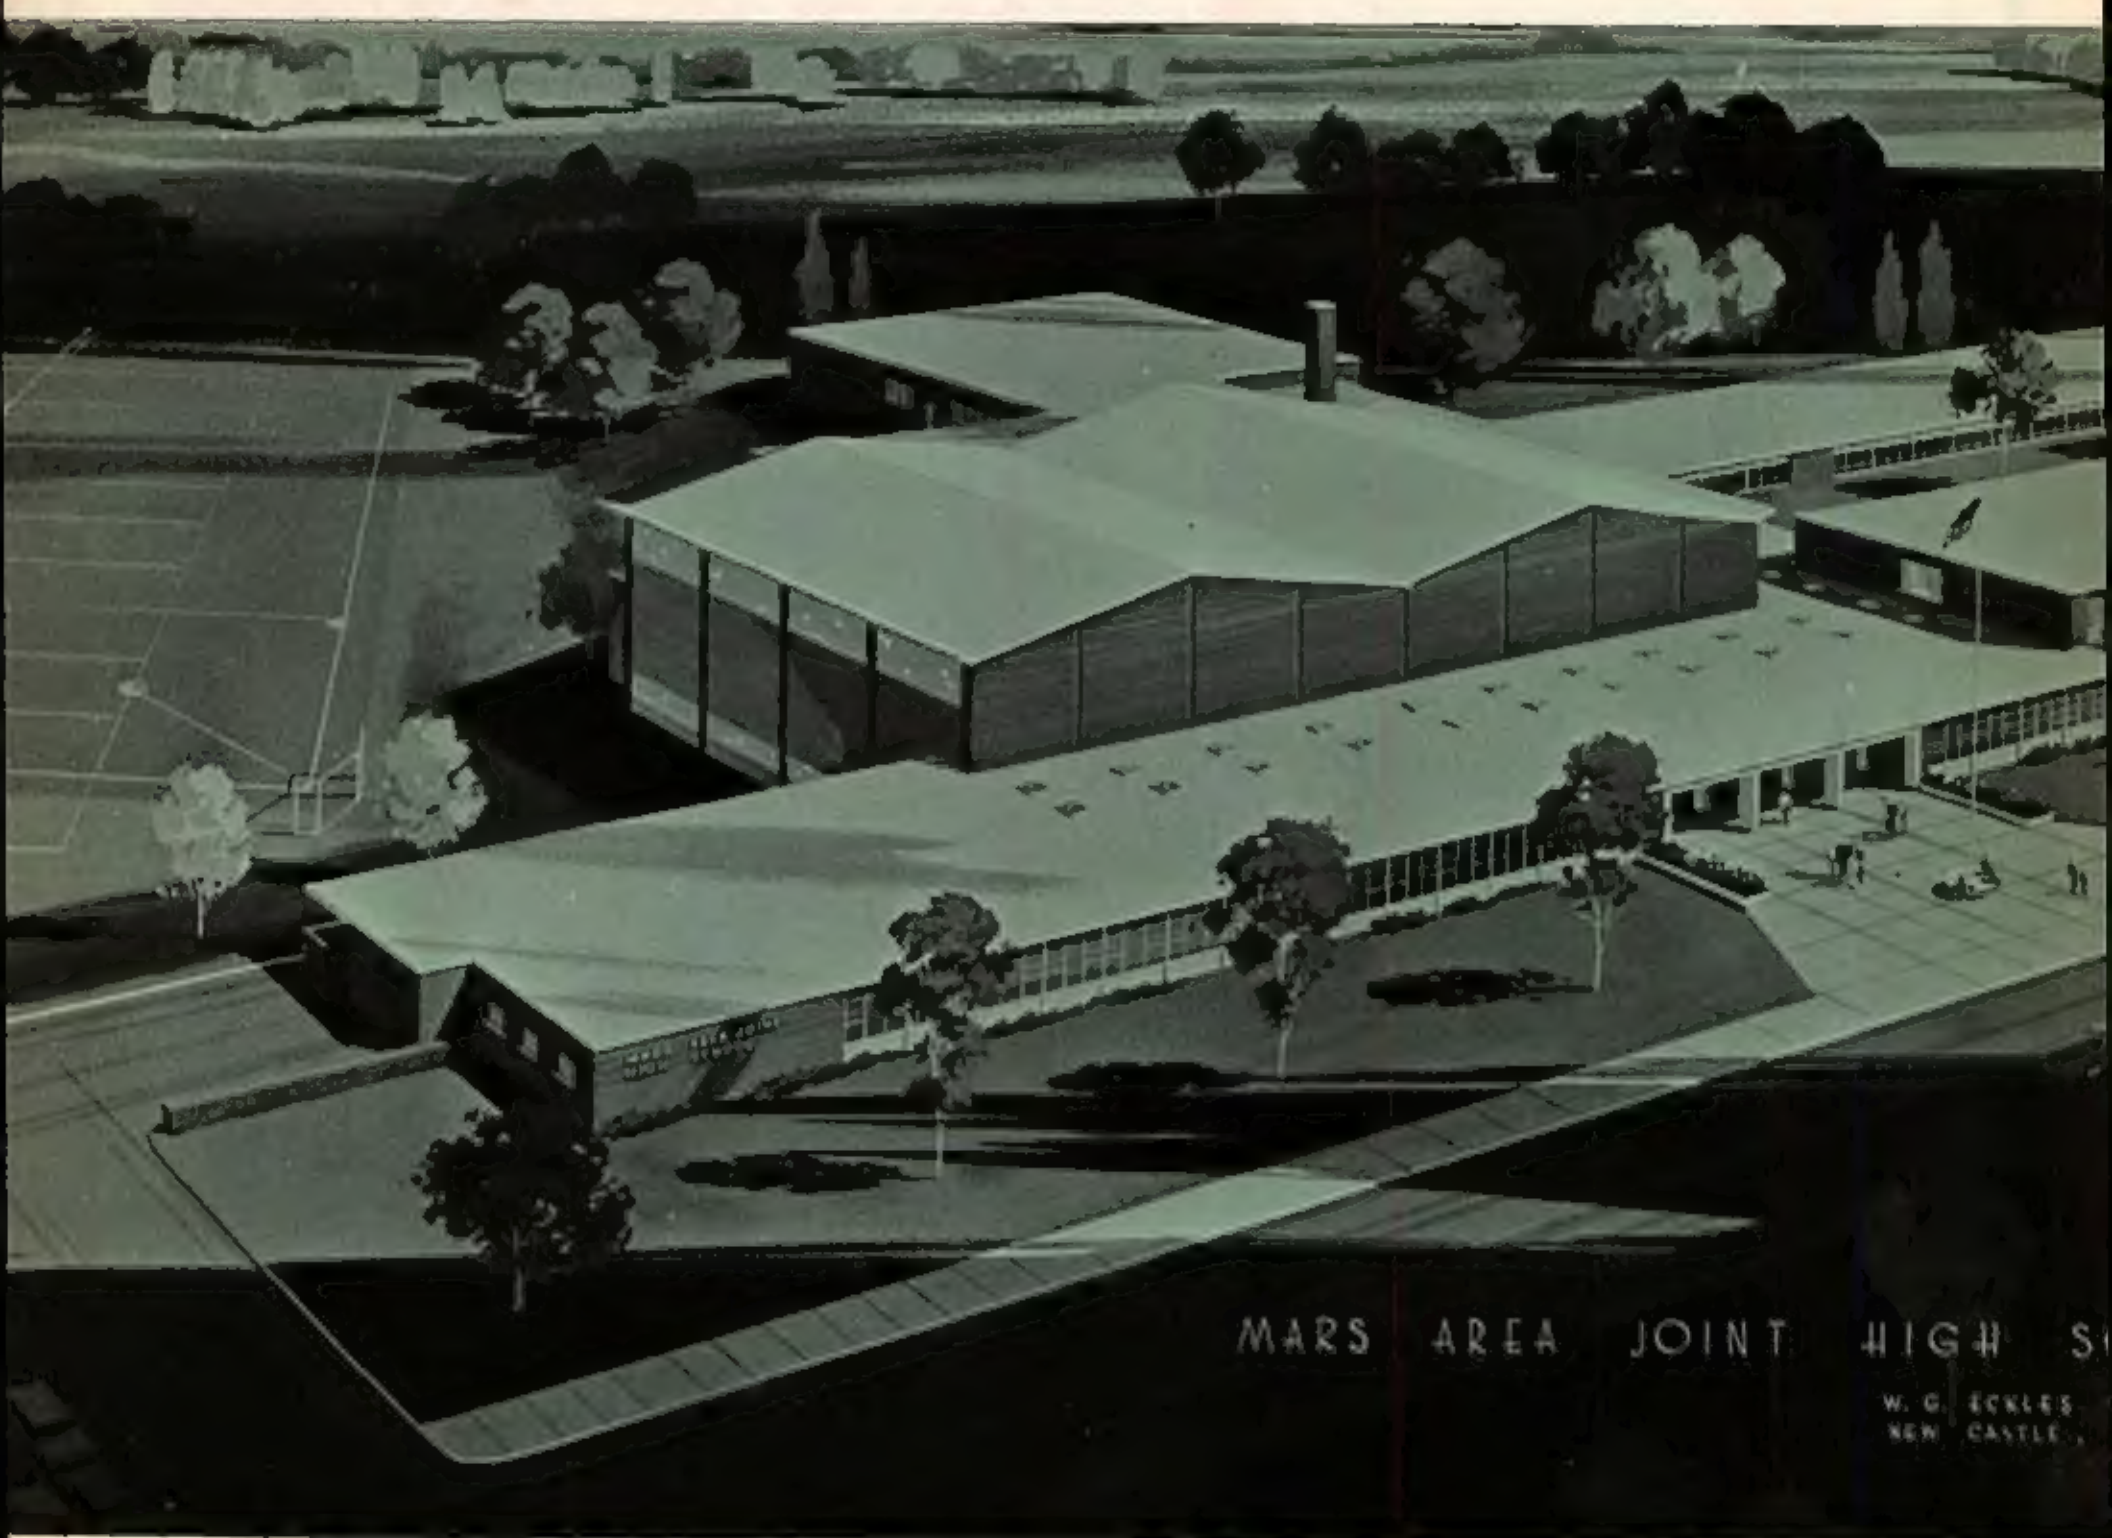

Died November 22, 1963 . . .

who wished that our citizens be soundly educated.

"No task before our nation is more important than expanding and improving the educational opportunities of all our people . . . Education is both the foundation and the unifying force of our democratic way of life. It is the main-spring of our economic and social progress. It is the highest expression of achievement in our society, ennobling and enriching human life. In short, it is at the same time the most profitable investment society can make and the richest reward it can confer."

For a Progressive

AN EXPANDING SCHOOL DISTRICT WITH GROWING ROOM IN NORTHERN METROPOLITAN PITTSBURGH

Mars Area Joint School District is situated approximately 25 miles north of Pittsburgh. The area, including Adams and Middlesex Townships, with Mars and Valencia Boroughs in Butler County, is located ideally between two north-south state highways, Route 8 on the east and Route 19 on the west.

The center of the district is 11 miles from Butler Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, for travel east, and 7 miles from the Perry Interchange on Route 19 for west bound travel. The whole of the district is within a 200 mile radius of Cleveland, Washington, Baltimore, Harrisburgh, and Buffalo, with Pittsburgh just 25 miles away.

The Mars Borough Shopping District as well as nearby Butler and Northern Pittsburgh Shopping Centers, are within a 5-20 mile radius and easily accessible.

Mars Area . . . a suburban, rural community with rolling hills and modern homes.

GIRLS' GYM CLASS provides exercise and excitement

The elementary schools teach students the knowledge which is the foundation of their later education.

The students learn the regular subjects of reading, writing, and arithmetic in a modern manner. First graders learn to read by phonetics, while second graders write poetry. A program of modern math has been inaugurated and library facilities are available to all students.

Three schools in the school district contain grades one through four. An intermediate building in Mars houses the fifth and sixth graders and is arranged by departments, which is similar to the Junior and Senior High School.

New subjects are being added to the elementary curriculum. An introduction to modern languages and a physical education program have been started.

The Junior High introduces students to a high school atmosphere. Ninth grade students can choose which of the five curriculums they wish to take through high school.

As they reach Junior High, students also find more extracurricular activities open to them. They participate in more social activities as well. The Junior High Lo-Down, staffed by junior high students relates news occurring in the Junior High area.

SCHOOL SERVES STUDENT'S NEEDS

A student in Mars High School spends each day in an atmosphere of "living and learning".

In modern classrooms the teachers strive to develop the basic processes of listening, participating, and working. Visual aids, and modern equipment allow the pupils to learn by seeing and doing. Some of these new facilities may be found in the commercial, language, and science departments.

The school aims to serve the students. Fine examples of this are the 8,000 volume library, efficient cafeteria, comfortable student lounge, and the guidance department.

A wide variety of extra-curricular activities provides each student with a well rounded schedule. Band, chorus, and ensemble are available for those with musical interests. Athletic ability may be put to use through football, basketball, golf, and gym team. Publications, cheerleading, and organized clubs give everyone a chance to participate.

EVALUATION GETS UNDER WAY

The week of March 30 was a hectic one for any person involved in the Mars Area School System. Teachers, as well as students, prepared for the school's evaluation by a committee representing the Middle States Accrediting Association. The goal, accreditation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, will be announced later next fall.

Accreditation is a prestige factor for schools and gives criteria with which to judge them in relation to other schools. Two key points under consideration were; (1) the school's philosophy and objectives; (2) Characteristics of the school and community. The evaluating committee, which was composed of educators from throughout the state, made a top-to-bottom survey of the school, its facilities, and its curriculum.

When evaluations were made, factors such as size, type, location, financial support, and state requirements were not permitted to justify failure to provide a program and facilities appropriate to the needs of the school and community. Individual staff members, as well as the separate evaluation committees, worked on a rigorous schedule. The various departments and program of studies were evaluated by faculty members, prior to the regular evaluation.

Mr. Robert C. Downie
High School Principal

Mr. F. Patrick Long
Elementary Principal

This year was a year of devotion, working toward the Middle Atlantic Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools Evaluation for the high school.

The Supervising Principal, Dr. Albert Manerino, supported the team effort of the principal and faculty to this end. Dr. Manerino, as Supervising Principal has experience in education as a teacher, counselor, and administrator.

Mr. Robert C. Downie, has been with the Mars High School for fifteen years serving as a teacher and principal. This year he has guided the staff through a successful year highlighted in April by the three day evaluation.

Mr. F. Patrick Long is the elementary principal and is the leader of an elementary program that is providing well prepared students for high school. Mr. Long has served the Mars Area Schools both as a teacher and principal for many years.

MATH DEPARTMENT

Mr. Norval Dunn
7th Math

Mr. Edgar McGee
Algebra, Geometry

Miss Mary Renison
College Algebra

Mathematics is a field essential to all students, even if they have made no plans to continue their education. The study of mathematics is related to practically every academic course. Its basic concepts will later assist those who now apply themselves.

Faculty members must constantly keep abreast with new math advances to prepare students for the changing modern world.

In addition to the regular academic courses, students are offered accelerated courses. At the beginning of Junior High, the accelerated students are given eighth grade math while their classmates are studying seventh grade arithmetic. This enables the advanced students to take calculus in their Senior year. This will give them a better background for college courses.

Emphasis in science is upon the importance of major scientific principles, the development of competence, the development of desirable attitudes and interests, and the recognition and preparation of science in the atomic and space age.

The science curriculum in Mars High School deals with units of science that are designed to meet the student's future needs.

Learning is conducted by classroom-laboratory methods which provide opportunities for instruction, investigation, and experimentation.

Science is treated in such a way that the student is able to seek job opportunities in today's scientific and automated age.

The Science Department is beginning to employ a study of advanced science from Biology to Chemistry which gives the student a closer relationship to science as practiced in today's research facilities.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Mr. Thomas Hawkins

Journalism

Mrs. Judith Michaels
American History

Mr. Arno Thompson
P.O.D., Economics
Psychology

Social studies are concerned mainly with the whole life of man, not only the dusk of the past, but in the light of the future as well. Keeping pace with our rapidly changing world requires a constantly improved version of the curriculum. The development of alert and intelligent citizens equipped with enough understanding and courage to meet today's crucial moments of history is a primary objective of the course at Mars High.

The senior Problems of Democracy class included major political, economic, and social problems confronting the American people.

A review of the early colonial days on into the Civil War and Reconstruction Period was provided by the junior American History course. Major emphasis was placed upon the period after 1876, since this period dominates the world of today.

World Cultures gave to students a better understanding of the dominant cultures and peoples throughout the modern world. Gaining knowledge of others brings about a decrease in hatred and intolerance.

Pennsylvania History, a freshman course, is designed to clarify the economic and social patterns of life within our state and to give students a full realization of Pennsylvania's past, present, and future greatness.

Seventh grade Early World History expanded upon grade school social studies in which American and world affairs become intermingled during early world backgrounds.

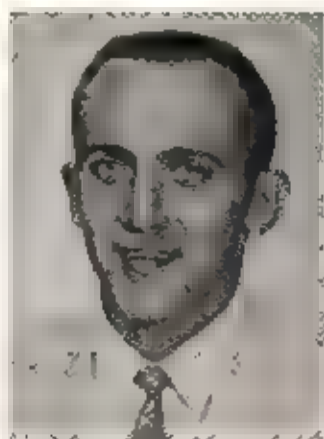

WORLD CULTURES students learn more about the land of India with teacher, Mr. Hawkins.

STRESS CONCEPTS AND IDEAS

Mr. Marvin Gall
9th Pa. History, Civics

Mr. John Henicheck
7th, 8th Geography

Mrs. Avonnell Miles
8th American History

Mr. Thomas Tindall
7th World History

Eighth grade was taught Early American History, a study of early institution, government, and culture.

A senior high elective, psychology, was made a part of the social studies program and others are to be added. Psychology helped young people to understand themselves and others better. It wisely prepared them for marriage and a vocation in an attempt to apply the material to the student's daily life.

Economics contributed to an understanding of society's economic problems. It taught students about everything concerned with business, money, and credit.

In Geography the major industries and commercial regions were brought into focus. Students were given a better understanding of the nations and people who have come into contact with one another in our work of today.

Social studies are conducted to implement the aims, objectives, and philosophy of the Mars Area Schools.

These courses and related activities develop skills, concepts, and knowledge that help provide a "provocative" education which should stimulate the students' thinking for the rest of their lives.

Social studies courses provide an opportunity for students to express themselves orally through the use of panels, debates, and reports.

Mars High School social studies teachers are utilizing available instructional material and equipment and are looking for new ideas for social studies teaching, acquiring classroom library's, visual aids, and research books.

In the modern world, communication has become more important than ever before. The English, Latin, and Modern Language departments of Mars High School prepare the students in this important field.

The mechanics of English grammar and an appreciation of English literature are taught. Two years of Latin and four years of French and Spanish are offered.

French and Spanish

A new language laboratory has been added to the facilities of the Modern Language department. With the lab, the teacher can speak to the whole class or to one student. The lab aids students in both grammar and pronunciation.

Miss Mary Young

SPEECH STUDENTS discuss their favorite commercials.

AND MODERN LANGUAGES

SPANISH STUDENTS use the language lab.

ENGLISH

One of the main projects of the English department was the revision of the course of study this year. The department prepared a style sheet for use by any department assigning term papers. They also prepared reading lists for use by senior high students. A Journalism class, which publishes the Planet Dust, has been added.

Faculty members have worked with Miss Sloan, reading consultant for Butler County.

Representing the Mars High School English department at the Midwestern Convention in New Castle were Mrs. Latshaw and Mrs. Meckly. Miss Neeley and Miss Young attended the Penn State Conference. Mr. Kemper has attended the monthly meetings of the Tri-State Study Council.

LATIN

Latin, the language of 2,000 years ago, is still being studied by many Mars students. The basis of many modern languages, Latin gives students a firm foundation for the study of foreign languages and English.

Second year Latin students were required to hand in projects dealing with the Roman Empire. First year students were required to write term papers.

Mrs. Doris Bowers
Typing, Business Math

Mrs. Shan Leslie
Shorthand, Office Practice

OFFICE PRACTICE class learns use of business machines.

To the graduating senior, competition of the business world is more than an exciting challenge. It is a demanding struggle which must be confronted with ability and initiative. From the training offered by Mars High, these requirements should be amply met.

Within the past year, new typewriters and more up-to-date office practice machines were added. The business department teaches general office duties as well as methods of operating these machines.

Included in the list of subjects taught are Bookkeeping, Business Law, Typing, and Stenography.

Miss Rita Aloe, continued in her efforts to turn out capable, properly trained secretaries.

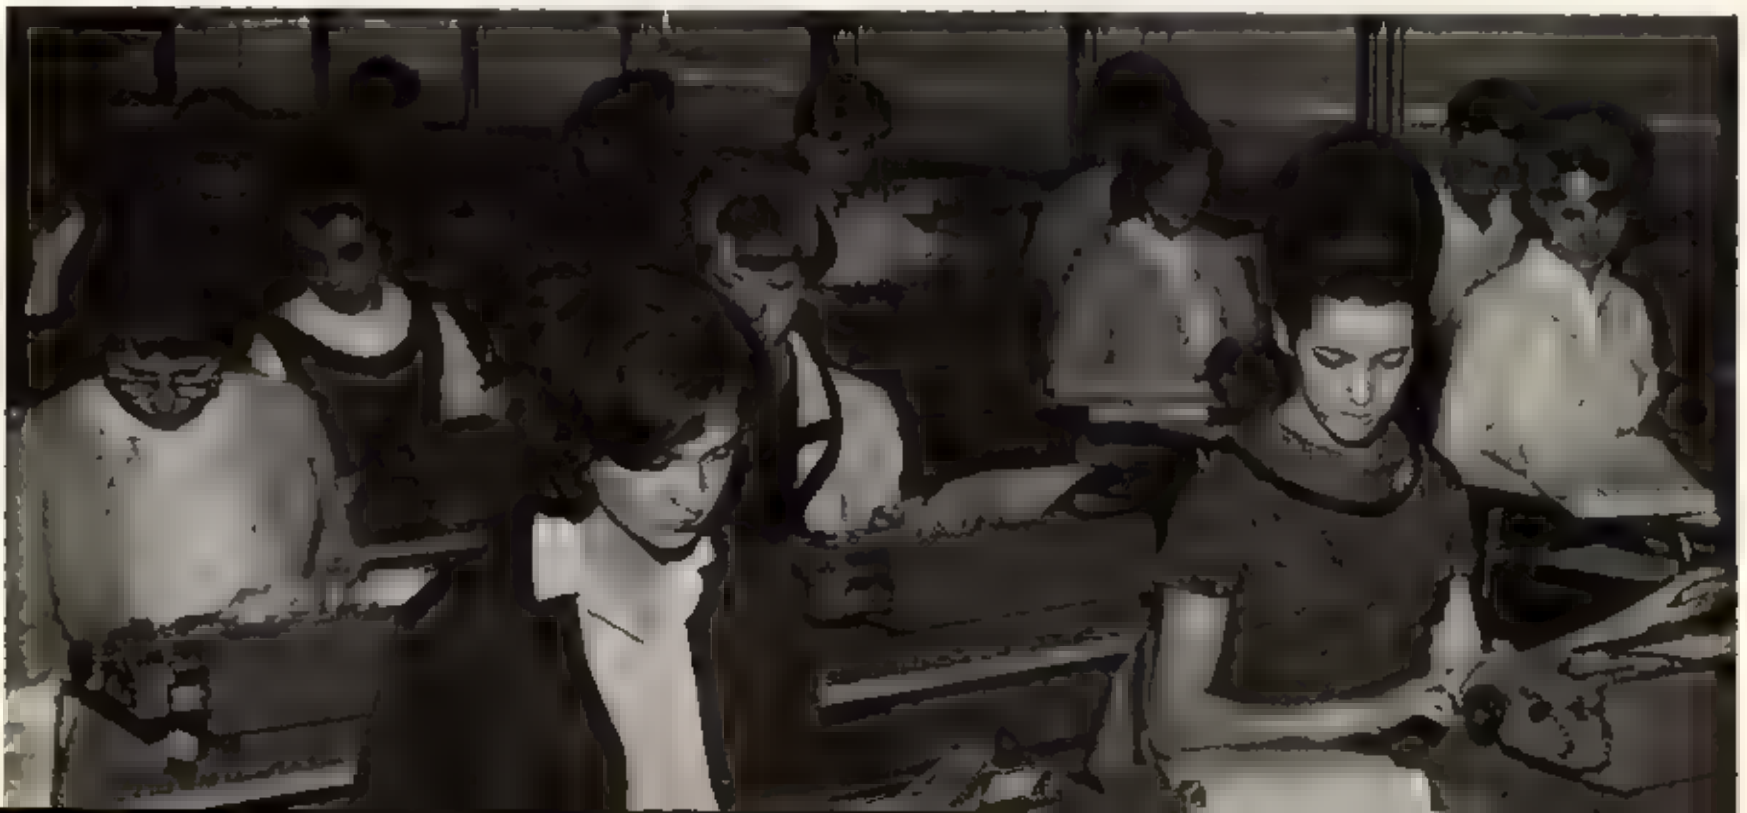

Business Math and Typing are areas covered by Mrs. Doris Bowers, who has been teaching at Mars High for two years.

Shorthand and Office Practice are taught to the students by Mrs. Shirley Leslie, a new teacher at the school this year.

Today's business world demands a secretary that can handle her job adequately.

Mars High Students and teachers are attempting to meet these demands by modern teaching.

JUNIOR TYPING class learns fundamentals.

Mrs. Suzanne Younker
Jr. and Sr. High Art

Encouraging students to develop their musical and artistic talents was the main objective of Art and Music departments.

Art students pooled their artistic abilities to supply posters announcing events occurring at school and programs for plays and concerts held in the school auditorium. Art students also entered the Scholastic Art Contest. The classes painted various scenes on the windows of the cafeteria and hall.

The art department also cooperated with Mars merchants by painting windows with a Halloween theme.

Crafts helped students develop their creative ability in the use of clay, enamel, leather goods, and porcelain.

Miss Sandra Creighton, the vocal teacher in the Music department, helped Jr. High students expand their appreciation of music. She also directed the chorus which provided music for assemblies and presented a Spring Vocal Concert.

Mr. Ebner taught instrumental music. He conducted both the Varsity and Cadet bands which performed at football games and pep rallies in the fall. The band devoted all of its time after football season on concert pieces and presented a concert in the spring.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

MR. RYNER instructs junior high students in wood shop.

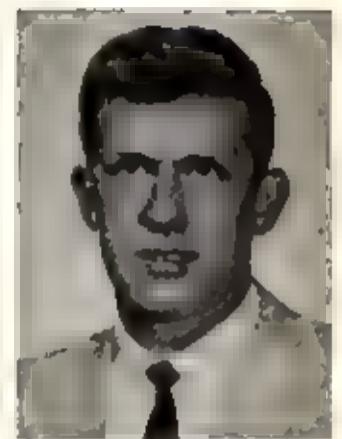

The Industrial Arts department helps to develop the student's creative ability and skill.

A student taking these subjects is offered a semester or more in metal work, plastics, or mechanical drawing. Having at their disposal modern safety equipment, the students reveal their abilities by the products they turn out.

All precautions are taken with the machinery and tools. Every boy must know how to use the equipment and must pass safety tests to be qualified to operate it.

The experiences the students have had in the shop program may be useful to them in the later life, either as a trade or in the home workshop.

Seventh grade boys are required to take one year of wood shop. This serves as an introduction to the entire Industrial Arts program. The specific objectives are to teach hand tools, safety, the jig-saw, drill press, and mortising machine.

Sound physical development creates a body in which the mind can work more efficiently. Mars has found that through mental and physical development; the molding of a more complete individual is achieved.

By dividing the junior and senior high into two separate guidance departments; it was possible for the guidance counselors to give each student individual attention. Mr. Robert Simmons provided guidance for the junior high pupils and Mr. Eugene Danser aided the senior high students.

Under competent instruction; the student acquires physical skills which can be a source of pleasure and accomplishment.

In addition to learning the basic fundamentals of all sports, the boys and girls are taught rules of sportsmanship and co-operation under the supervision of Mr. Michael Crist, Mr. Paul Douds, and Mrs. Darlene Weinzettl.

Mr. Crist and Mr. Douds also teach senior health classes which are compulsory for graduation. The classes present the student with all aspects of physical and mental health.

Students engaged in the Drivers' Education program soon become acquainted with the keyword, safety. It is particularly stressed in accordance with proper driving habits and skills. After learning the fundamentals of driving, as well as the state laws, students are taken for their state exams.

The training of our future homemakers is helped by the newly-equipped Home Economics department. Besides sewing and cooking, students are also taught childcare, fashions, and etiquette. Mrs. Lois Best and Miss Rebecca Richards, heads of the cooking and sewing departments respectively, enable the students to grasp these valuable homemaking techniques.

An array of modern health rooms, each fully equipped, assured the students of a good medical care program. Mrs. Helen Knaell, registered nurse, and Dr. Morris, medical doctor, formed the heads of the medical staff, while Dr. Edward Campbell, dentist, headed the dental clinic.

Supplying the students with research material and enjoyable reading, the Library offers its valuable services to the entire school. New books continue to fill the shelves of the room, and ideas for changes which will help the program are being expressed. With the ready assistance of Mrs. Vida Hudson, librarian, students are able to attain a wide-spread variety of research information and other needed material. Many classes were instructed as to the use of the library and students used the facilities for research papers.

Strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" filled the auditorium as the Senior class took its final step in high school life. Memories of victorious football games, banging lockers, unfinished assignments, final exams, and enduring friendships were vivid as the evening advanced. This was the scene at the graduation ceremony for the Class of 1964.

Throughout the year class enthusiasm was displayed as it sponsored refreshment stands, the talent show, and sold school stationery and charms. Much effort was also shown by the Seniors when they worked along with the Student Council to advance the plans for obtaining a foreign exchange student next year.

Particularly exciting was the football game with Evans City, in which Mars not only won by the score 25-33, but also brought a traditional rivalry to an end, due to the new jointure between Evans City and Zellenople.

At a fall assembly 15 Senior football players and 24 Senior band members were awarded sweaters for their fine performances.

The trip to New York City last June made the effort of selling magazines and sponsoring a talent show and play in the Junior year really seem worthwhile.

Preparation is now being completed for the rapidly advancing future by those going to college and those seeking employment. Four years of extensive study have laid the foundation for the unknown goals which lie ahead. Although greater responsibilities must be assumed with the coming years, the memories of Mars High will always remain in their hearts.

IN MEMORIAM

And God shall wipe away all the tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, nor pain any more for the former things are passed away.

Richard T. Stawecki, a member of the Class of 1964, died in August of 1962 as the result of an automobile accident. He had an outstanding love for nature and was one of two boys from this district selected to attend the Butler County Conservation Camp. Rick will always be sincerely remembered by his classmates.

NEW YORK TRIP

Three days! It seemed like only three hours spent in this fabulous city. What happened to the time? These were some of the thoughts of the juniors as they relaxed in the bus on the way home, and many of them looked back and laughed about the long walks that ended in circles.

Rising early to eat breakfast, the group left the Edison Hotel and walked a short distance to the cafeteria. Thus the day began. There were so many things to do and so many sights to see.

Tours included the beautiful Cathedral of St. John the Divine and the United Nations building. An enthralling concert was enjoyed at Radio City Music Hall. Taking the Liberty Island ferry, the class visited the Statue of Liberty. Lack of sleep rather than lack of patriotism caused a few of the students to remain on the ground and gaze up in awe while others more energetic climbed a myriad of steps to the top.

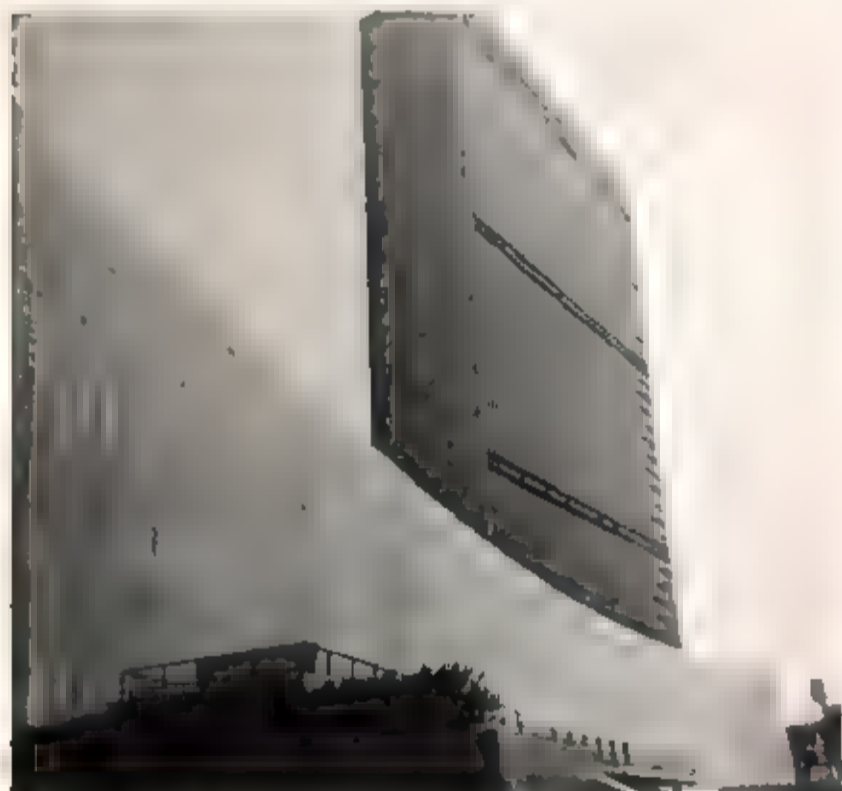

This exciting trip will not soon be forgotten by the Class of 1964, and the many experiences shared by all will long be remembered.

SENIORS visited the Statue of Liberty.

READY for a good night's sleep?

TUESDAY'S TOUR included the United Nations.

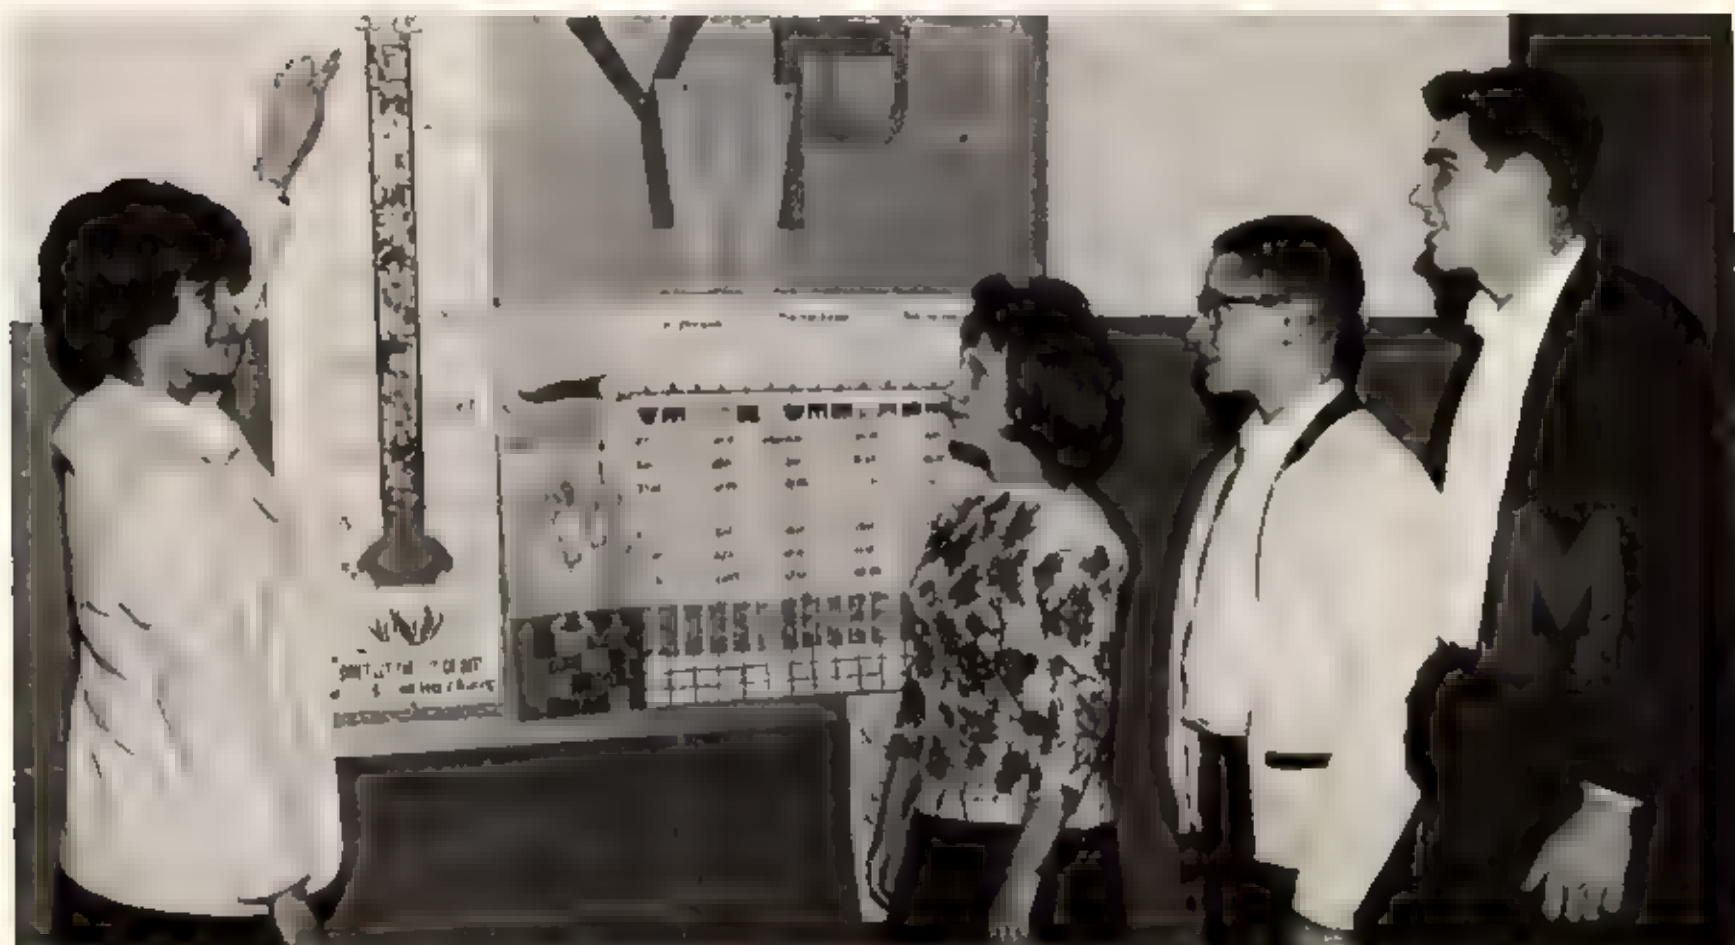

GLORIA, Lois, and Linda rest after a long day of sightseeing.

CONEY ISLAND gave many varied impressions.

JUNIORS VISIT '64 WORLD'S FAIR

JUNIOR OFFICERS: Virginia Yurko, President; Joan Rounce, Secretary; Bill Brown, Treasurer; Jim McCandless, Vice President.

Starting the "New York World's Fair or Bust!" campaign with the annual magazine sale, the juniors made their goal of $3500.

As Christmas approached, the class again sponsored the sale of wreaths. This project aided not only themselves but also the retarded children at Polk State School.

"Belles on Their Toes", the junior play, was a rollicking comedy about the "Cheaper by the Dozen" family. Proceeds from the play, with money made from football stands and other projects, permitted the juniors to see the myriad wonders of the "1964 World's Fair."

Working to make money for the traditional New York Trip, the "Class of 65" did not neglect their academic studies. College bound students took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and the College Boards for use when seeking college entrance. Other students investigated the possibilities of nursing and business schools.

Many new subjects filled the students' curriculum. Helping to advance in a fast moving world were advanced math courses. Physics, although at times very confusing, gave an insight into the workings of the atomic age we live in today. Juniors taking a foreign language were stimulated by the new language lab, one of three in the county. Commercial courses provided the necessary skills needed for those students seeking a career in the business world.

SOPHOMORE'S GLIMPSE FUTURE

Scholastic and athletic ability were often displayed this year by the Sophomore class.

On March 9, 10 the National Educational Development Test was taken to determine each student's ability and national standing. This and other tests aided the students in the planning for the future and helped them to realize their capabilities.

Many of the students also participated on the athletic field of Mars High School for the first time. Football, basketball, and cheerleading gave the sophomores a chance to express themselves physically. Doug Barber, Dave Foster, and Bob Cleva are only a few of the outstanding athletes who made this a memorable year.

Team effort was also displayed by the sophomores when they gave their support to Stanley Truver, a fellow classmate, who unfortunately had to have his leg amputated in the fall of last year. Stanley's classmates made many trips to the hospital, gave him moral support, and followed his recovery with interest.

The Class of 1966 used efficiency and economy early in the year by choosing class officers and planning the year's projects. The sale of chocolate candy and blue and gold ball-point pens raised additional funds for the class treasury. Because of these projects the sophomores have learned the importance of working together toward a common goal.

NINTH GRADE MOVES FORWARD

Simplicity and sincerity in everything are always worthwhile, whether it be manners, music, or words. This year's ninth grade class officers displayed this in carrying out their duties.

The "Class of 67" has fostered and stimulated the student growth in every activity or event they have participated in. Early in the year the class organized and selected reliable people to lead their class throughout the year.

"Surfing Hootenanny", their first class party, was held on November 5. Refreshments and live entertainment were provided. To add to the nautical atmosphere set by the theme, decorations such as fishing nets and sea shells adorned the lobby of Mars High School.

Freshmen have discovered many new worlds in the fields of Latin and Algebra. For the first time, French and Spanish have been offered to the Freshmen Class and many of them have taken advantage of this opportunity.

Now that they know what high school life is truly like, they should go through their remaining three years of high school learning and furthering their education. They will find that the best possible way to do this is to enjoy their work and put their very best forth in all their studies. Courses like Biology, Geometry, and Physics will give these students a chance to exercise these qualities. By so doing, they will in turn, learn to get along in life.

EIGHTH GRADE SHOWS ENTHUSIASM

EIGHTH GRADE OFFICERS: President, Paul O'Black; Secretary, Dan Housekeeper; Vice President, John Yoak; Treasurer, Terry Penny.

The eighth grade class has taken another important step up the ladder to success. As novices, the students entered the high school to begin their second year. They continued to strive for the feeling of belonging and being a part of high school life by offering themselves to what was going on around them.

These students showed their eagerness in "belonging" by their early organization and their enthusiastic participation in various school activities. By doing these things, they learned what it means to work as a group.

Rex Hurd, Jim Knauff, Dan Housekeeper, Jerry Black, and David Kiley added their strength to the Junior High basketball team. Many other members of the class participated in various other school activities such as: Junior High Chorus, the Cadet Band, and other clubs.

The scholastic achievement of these students was displayed by the scores which they received on the Iowa Tests of Basic Skills. They will soon find this is only a sample of the tests which they will be given in the near future.

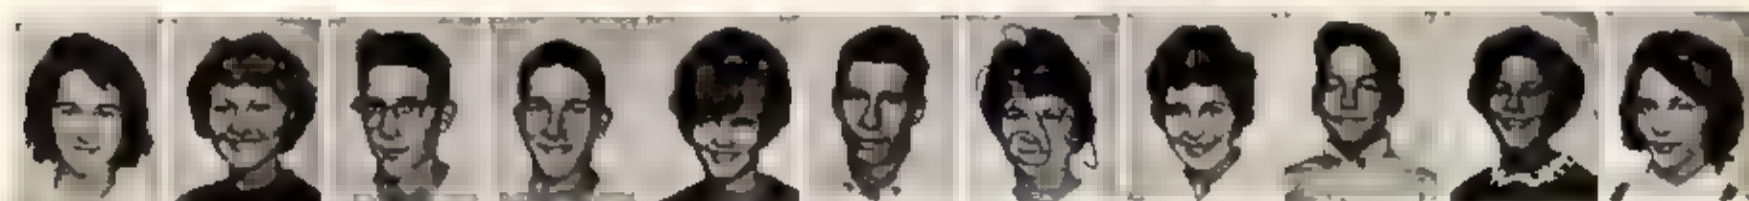

Class eagerness and enthusiasm resulted in receiving the gift of "belonging and becoming a part". Before they may accept, it is necessary for them to put forth their best. Fond memories of this past year will fill their hearts as more continue to crowd in throughout their life.

SEVENTH GRADE ORIENTATED

SEVENTH GRADE OFFICERS: Secretary, Ira Baumgartel; Vice President, Arlene Brush; Treasurer, Richard Frohnerath; President, George Bender.

New faces, places, and ideas posed a challenge to this years' seventh grade, the challenge of adapting from the familiar grade school life to the new world of junior high. Soon they fell into the routine of high school and became acquainted with the many new areas of study, such as home economics and woodcraft.

The "Class of 1969" became a tightly woven organization by electing home room officers and representatives early in the year.

They showed great enthusiasm by participating in the production of the "Lo-Down", the junior high newspaper.

A "get-acquainted" party familiarized them with one another and with the school program.

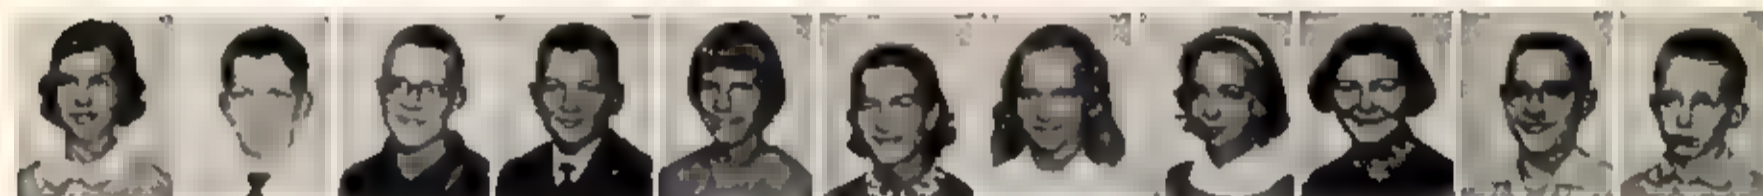

Each student's individual ability was tested by the Otis Intelligence Test and the Iowa Test of Basic Skills.

HONOR SOCIETY

Membership in the National Honor Society is an honor for those students of the Senior class who have maintained a 3.0 average or better throughout their careers in Mars High School.

These students were selected at the beginning of the second semester. At the graduation ceremonies, each member was recognized and presented with a gold National Honor Society pin.

A member of this organization has something to remember, to be proud of, and to cherish.

Next year, a planned change in the society will enable Sophomores and Juniors to participate.

F. T. A.

Student Teaching Day provided an excellent opportunity for the Future Teachers of America to experience many of the facets of the teaching profession.

The members demonstrated their ability as hosts and hostesses by greeting visitors to the school during American Education week.

They learned that fun and hard work came together as they served the annual Butler County Co-ordinating Council banquet.

Toothbrushes were sold throughout the year to finance a trip to the annual Pennsylvania Future Teachers convention in Harrisburg. Mrs. Wilkinson and a future teacher attended the two day event.

COUNCIL HASTENS FOREIGN EXCHANGE

A foreign exchange program was accepted with a mixture of determination and delight by the students and community of the Mars Area.

Previous attempts at such a program were not successful, but the student council with renewed enthusiasm, revived interest in the project and worked toward its conclusion.

All profits gathered from various activities such as the "Twrip" dance, student store, and the selling of hats were directed toward the goal of bringing a foreign student to the community.

The student government itself, was reorganized into separate councils for the senior and junior high. Meeting together several times, the two councils shared the responsibilities of promoting good student-faculty relations and of discussing the problems and ideas submitted by the student body.

Mr. Danser was sponsor for senior council and Mr. Simmons for junior council.

As in previous years the student council compiled the Student Handbook which is organized for the convenience of next year's students.

MARS LANGUAGE STUDENTS

A better understanding of France and the customs of its people is encouraged by the French Club. Meetings are held monthly and by conducting them in French the members are helped to develop the conversational phase of the language.

On February 11 the sophomore and junior French students presented the play "Cinderella." All members of the club and any interested public were invited to observe this age old classic performed in the French language.

December was the month of initiation. After the completion of the many stunts, the new members felt that they had really earned the privilege of belonging to the club. Live entertainment by the "Galaxies" was presented for the enjoyment of those who attended and refreshments were served to end the evening.

The recent addition of a three year language program to the curriculum has made it possible for all freshmen, sophomores, and juniors with a 2.0 or better average to join the club. This will result in a much larger club next year.

In the spring, a dance "The Expresso," was held in the front lobby for all the student body. With the help of Mr. Guiser, the club sponsor, an atmosphere of life on the "Left Bank of Paris" was developed through elaborate decorations of dripping candles and café tables.

USE LANGUAGE LABORATORY

LANGUAGE LABORATORY provides private tutoring effect for students as they receive instructions by an electronic tape.

Promoting interest in the Spanish speaking nations, their language and customs, is the purpose of the Spanish Club. At the present time America faces a great challenge in Latin America; a knowledge of this area is therefore important to the student and to the nation.

Throughout the year the club members strived to help fulfill this obligation to their country.

In the newly installed language laboratory, the students learned to pronounce and speak Spanish more correctly through individual practice.

Club activities began early in December with the initiation of all students who have maintained a 2.5 average or better in Spanish I. After failing the fake entrance examination, the prospective members were called upon to perform many awkward, but amusing stunts. The evening was brought to a close with refreshments for all.

Spanish foods and Mexican dishes were the highlight of a dinner-meeting held in February. The favorites were tamales and enchilladas. After dinner, slides of Spain were shown to the group.

A lively fiesta, planned entirely by the club and its sponsor, Miss Kottas, took place in April. The celebration was held to observe Pan-American Day and the students had a wonderful time bringing to life the Latin America which they had studied.

LATIN CLUB HOLDS BANQUET

BANQUET GUESTS attired in Roman apparel.

Gladitorial feats and wedding festivities were the main attractions of this year's Latin Club Banquet. Fred Hespenshide was successful in defeating his opponent, Larry Kaufman, in a fast-moving gladitorial duel, while Diane Neese and Larry Fox were the happy bride and groom in the Latin Wedding.

Jim Thompson, Emperor, and his guests were served Roman style by "slave" girls and boys from the freshman class. The long, low tables and the menu, written in Latin, added to the Roman atmosphere. Guests also wore costumes depicting Latin dress.

Initiation tested the humor and endurance of the candidates, as the old members enjoyed their comical capers.

To conclude the initiation each new member signed the club charter at a candle light ceremony. After this service all Latin Club members were invited to a dance and refreshments of potato chips and soft drinks.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Marybelle Anderson, the club strives to keep the spirit of this ancient civilization alive and to acquaint the students in associating the Roman history with their modern life. The club also proves beneficial to the members in class work by providing a greater interest in the subject of Latin.

On class day, the boy and girl with the highest rating in Latin are awarded a gift of monetary value.

SCIENCE CLUB

Furthering science and developing an interest in the field of science is the purpose of the newly organized Science Club. Joseph Mrochek, science teacher and club sponsor, stresses the importance of this rapidly expanding field in today's complex society. The club, consisting of approximately fifteen members, meets monthly to discuss current events dealing with science.

Field trips held throughout the year, gave the students a chance to observe science in everyday life. Three of the buildings they visited were the Buhl Planetarium, the Observatory, and the Cyclotron in Saxonburg.

DRAMATICS CLUB

"All the world's a stage" and the members of this year's Dramatics Club discovered the career of acting is time consuming, but enjoyable.

Promoting better high school drama and developing a greater interest in acting is the purpose of the club.

Membership is earned by those seniors who have participated in the junior play, senior play, or a comparable public appearance, such as speaking at an assembly program.

Honorary membership has been given to a seventh grader, Pat Smith, for his performance in the Senior Play.

BAND PERFORMS

"BIG M" presented by band during a practice session

CLARENCE EBNER, Band Director

VARSDITY BAND

On April 17, a program of music was presented by the band at their annual spring band concert. The atmosphere set by the many show tunes spread into the audience as the unique lighting and fascinating props added to the effect.

The Mars Band was seen at many events during the course of the 1963-64 year. The Royal Blue and Gold Band marched at the Veterans' Day parade in Butler, the Santa Claus parade in Bellevue, and played at the Memorial Day in service in Mars. James Barber was selected to represent Mars High at Honors Band and Mid-Western Band this year. Louise Ebner, David Hauserman, and Russ Miller were also selected to play at Mid-Western Band.

At "Awards Night" each senior member was awarded a blue sweater for his activity in the band. "Patches" were also given to the "Cadet Band" members. After the presentation, movies of band camp were shown and refreshments were served.

The majorettes and flag twirlers led the band onto the field with their heads held high. These girls practiced a great deal and developed routines for their many performances. Their routines were worked out to the music played by the band and they also helped with the special formations such as the "Mill" and the "Football." The members of the color guard and the head majorette led the band onto the field for the pre-game flag salute and the half-time entertainment.

The Mars High School Royal Blue and Gold Marching Band used precision drill and four different formations—a football, a fan, a rocket, and a water mill—during their half time presentations.

The band members tried to create a new and different atmosphere for the home spectators by the use of lights in their formations.

The "Fantasy Ball" highlighted the activities that were sponsored by the band. It was held on December 27, in the Mars High School cafeteria. The dance was open to the entire student body. Those who attended the dance spent the evening dancing to the musical selections presented by the "Richland Swing Band." The climax of the evening came when, senior, Connie Renick was chosen "Band Queen" by those who attended the dance. Connie was crowned by Hiram Ball, president of the band.

On October 25, the band seniors were honored at the Bellevue football game, the last home game for these students.

Election of new band officers was held at the beginning of the year. Hiram Ball was chosen president; Lois Ferguson, vice-president; Susan Burk, secretary; and Susan Hamilton, treasurer. The ruling body of the band is called the band council and is composed of two representatives from each class and the band officers.

PLANET STAFF

Yearbook staff members gained valuable journalistic experience and fulfilled an important school service by publishing the 1964 Planet.

Making important decisions and meeting deadlines gave each member a sense of responsibility and a common goal.

Junior members have been added to a staff previously composed of only seniors. This will provide the 1965 yearbook staff with a group of experienced leaders.

Seven individual departments worked as a closely knit unit under the supervision of Thomas Hawkins, faculty sponsor. The departments were as follows: Literary, Make-up, Finance, Photography, Sports, Business, Typists, and News Bureau.

Gathering material and writing articles concerning classes and organizations was the main job of the literary staff. The typists then assumed the task of preparing the copies for the printer.

Providing page layouts and designing the yearbook cover were the responsibilities designated to the make-up staff. Their work was especially important since they had to be sure of placing every article and picture in just the right place.

The business staff had the task of financing the yearbook. They worked closely with the business staff who had the bookkeeping responsibilities.

The photography department took pictures and identified them with the proper captions. The sports staff identified sports pictures and listed football and basketball scores.

NEWS BUREAU

Keeping the community informed on the activities and happenings of the school was the main purpose of the News Bureau. They wrote up news stories, typed them, and sent them to various area newspapers. The cooperating newspapers were: Butler Eagle, Butler County News-Record, Richlander, and Monitor.

The staff kept a record of all the articles which have appeared in the newspapers. These stories were organized in chronological order and kept in a scrapbook, which has been set up to maintain a permanent record of all school news.

This year the News Bureau worked closely with the journalism class.

PLANET DUST

PLANET DUST—February, 1964.

An organized Journalism class has taken over the publication of the school newspaper, the Planet Dust. In addition to working on the paper, the class also studied the methods and procedures of good journalism.

Starting October 31, the Planet Dust was published monthly in the Butler County News Record. This marked the first time that the school newspaper has been published in a regular community publication.

Between issues of the News Record, mimeographed papers called "flyers" were printed for the information of the student body.

On February 21, the Journalism class visited the Zelenople office of the News Record. There they witnessed how a regular paper operates.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

G. A. A. QUEEN, Kitty Briceland, crowned by football captain, Bob Ritchey.

"Autumn Nocturne" was the theme of the annual Girls' Athletic Association dance, held Thanksgiving Eve.

Decorated in a fall harvest scene with scarecrows, Indian corn, and cornstalks, the cafeteria set the stage for the wide variety of music presented by the Monotones.

Senior, Kitty Briceland, was crowned "football queen" by football captain, Bob Ritchey. As a gift from the members of the club, Kitty received a silver charm bracelet with her name, and the words "football queen" inscribed on it. Also attached to it was a miniature football.

The Girls' Athletic Association is under the direction of Mrs. Darlene Weinzett, girls' physical education teacher.

Early in the year the club organized itself and the members elected Susan Hamilton as president; Janet Frazer, vice-president; Carol Black, secretary; and Janice Nicklas, treasurer.

The club consists of Sophomore, Junior, and Senior girls. In order to become a member you must be a participant of one or more athletic activities within the school.

The Girls' Athletic Association has provided a way for girls to socialize with each other in many different ways.

TOGETHERNESS! Cheerleaders join forces to cheer for the team.

GIVE 'EM the ax, boy! The cheerleaders keep the spirit going at a game.

Action! Action! We want action! This favorite cheer of the varsity and junior varsity football and basketball teams, was yelled long and loud by the girls at every game this year.

In addition to cheering at all football and basketball games, the varsity and junior varsity cheering squads were responsible for the pep rallies, student buses to "away" games, and introducing new cheers to the student body.

On the afternoon before the football game with arch-rival, Richland, the girls organized a pep rally to boost the school spirit. This rally produced quite a few unique events, including visiting cheerleaders.

Practice starts early for the cheerleaders, although they don't begin to cheer before the student body until the school year begins. During the summer the squads meet two or more times a week to revise their cheers and to keep up with the changes in the style of cheerleading.

One project the varsity girls participated in was the Mars Area Boosters Organization. The purpose of this group is to support the athletic program of Mars High. With the varsity football and basketball players, they canvassed the neighborhood to obtain boosters, who are composed of parents and friends of the school system.

During the basketball season the twelve girls were kept busy making posters and "Welcome" signs for the opposing teams. The groups used the women's faculty lounge to welcome the visiting cheerleaders with something cold to drink at half time.

The three senior cheerleader's last official act was to choose the next year's squads. Tryouts were held in the spring for any girls interested in becoming a cheerleader.

HALL PATROL

How do I get to the shop? Where is the Home Economics Room? These were just a few of the many questions asked by the seventh graders at the beginning of the school year. For a few days, until the boys were placed in strategic positions in the halls, the seventh graders wandered about in bewilderment. Chosen by the faculty, these boys were given the responsibility of keeping order in the halls between classes, and at pep rallies and assemblies.

DRIVERS' ED.

Rodeo! This was the name of the safety program presented by a local insurance company during which the members of the Driver's Education Club tested their reaction ability by quick response to a ringing bell. This experiment taught them that increased speed does require a greater stopping distance.

With their minds upon safety at all times, the students must complete classroom work before beginning to drive on the highway.

To conclude the course, the members are permitted to take their driver's test in Butler or Pittsburgh.

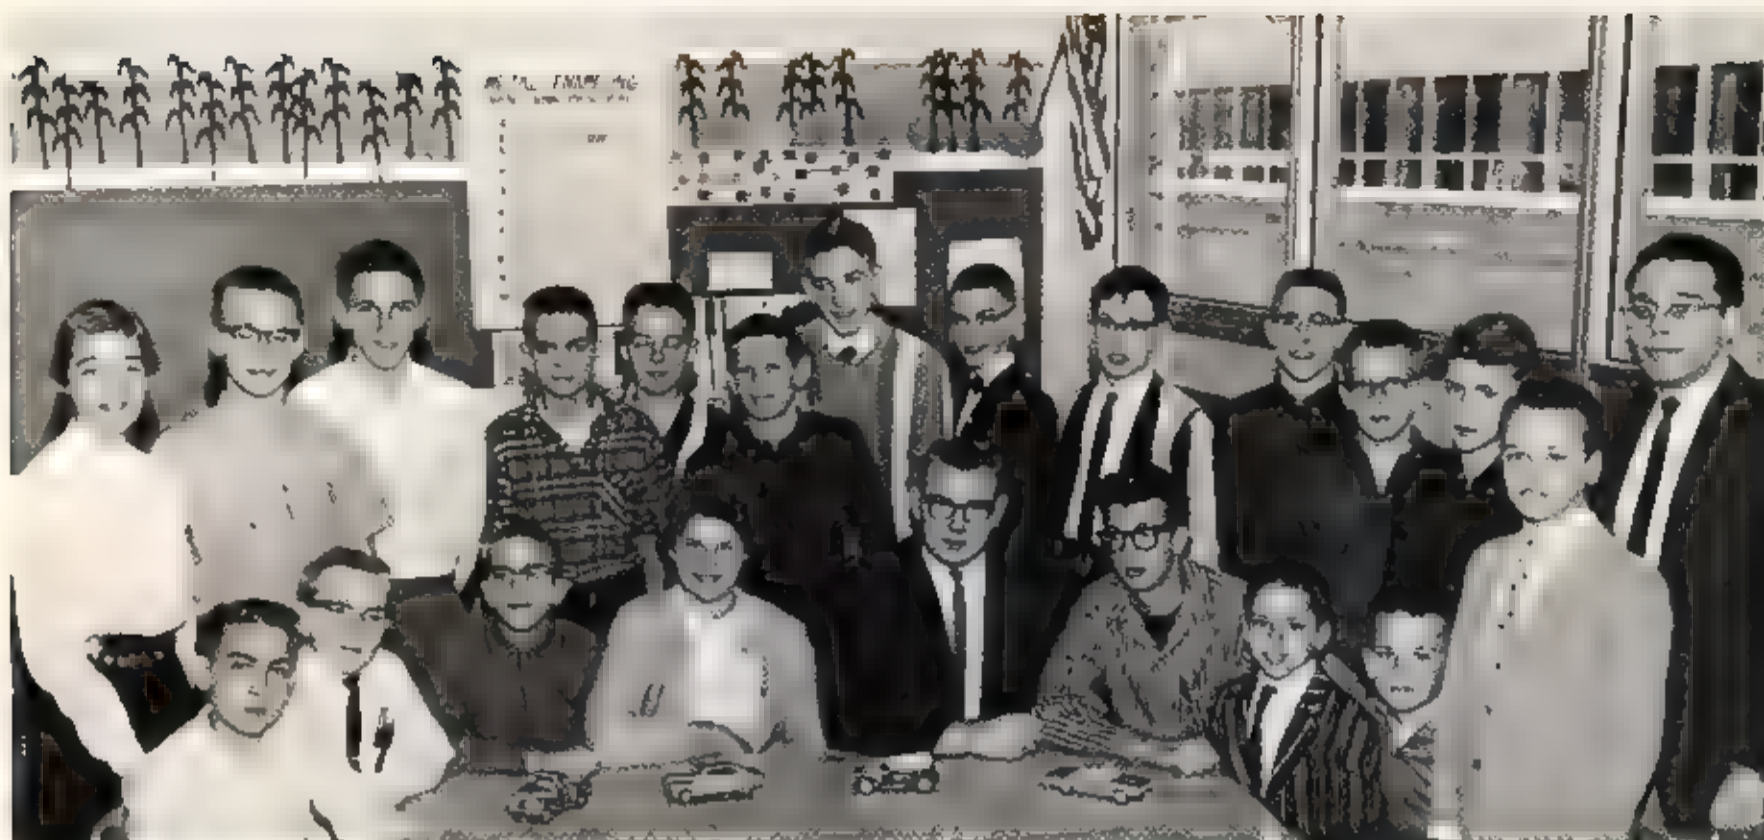

All students that have participated in the course and have received their license through it are members of the club, sponsored by Mr. Edmund Skacan.

HOBBY CLUB

Students were given an opportunity to develop their imaginative and creative abilities in the newly organized Hobby Club.

Designing and constructing model cars resulted in a car contest which was held at the beginning of the school year. Winning entries were awarded trophies.

Once a week, members met to work with projects such as constructing cars made of paper mache. Marvin Clay and Suzanne Younker, club sponsors, plan to expand the club's range of activities.

CHESS CLUB

Chess anyone? Bewildered as well as triumphant persons were seen leaving the library after the first meeting of the Chess Club.

Beginning chess students set forth to master the basic skills of the game during the first two months, while the more advanced members challenged each other to thrilling contests.

Trophies, acquired with dues money, created greater interest in the annual tournament held in May.

GIRL'S ENSEMBLE

Selections from "West Side Story," "My Fair Lady," and "The Music Man" were presented by the Girl's Ensemble throughout the year, especially at the Spring Concert in April. The twelve active members and three alternates, provided entertainment for many school activities and for community affairs.

Some of the occasions for which the girls have performed include the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter Assemblies.

One of the members, Erica Augustine, was honored by being chosen to represent Mars High School at Mid-Western Chorus, in Rochester, Pennsylvania. The choral show was a three day event which featured the finest high school singers in Mid-Western Pennsylvania.

Under the direction of Miss Sandra Creighton, the Ensemble added much to the atmosphere of the school program. Miss Creighton has been interested in music since the age of nine. While earning her B.S. in music at Geneva College, she was active in the Girl's Sextet and the school choir, the Genevans. Miss Creighton has become an essential part of Mars High, as she directs and sponsors the Junior High Chorus, Senior Chorus, and Girl's Ensemble.

SENIOR HIGH CHORUS

Melodious music filled the halls of Mars High School as the fifty-voice Senior Choir entertained the students with many programs throughout the year. These programs would not have been a success without the co-operation of every member.

Under the direction of Miss Sandra Creighton, the chorus impressed the student body with its Christmas and Easter programs. The true meaning of these holidays was projected into the hearts of the students in a way which made their vacations seem more meaningful.

They also presented a Spring Festival with a wide variety of show tunes.

The public was always invited to attend these events so the community could appreciate the choir's efforts.

SENIOR HIGH CHORUS has daily practices for presentation of programs.

"THE COURTSHIP OF EDDIE'S FATHER"

SENIOR PLAY

"Really stacked, huh Dad?" whispered Eddie Corbett under his breath. This was just one of the many amusing but innocent remarks Eddie made about one of his father's dates. "The Courtship of Eddie's Father" directed by Mrs. Latshaw, was the title of the Senior Play for this year. Eddie, being the main character, tried very hard to find a wife for his father, Tom Corbett.

Eddie, Tom's ten year old, sensed his father's feeling of loneliness after the death of his mother. He was always trying to help, sometimes being too helpful. But his intentions were always good. He was positive his father needed his expert advise in choosing the right girl. Eddie went about this task very seriously hoping to make his father happy, which he did in the end.

Nine girls and eight boys took part in the play which was held April 2 and 3.

EDDIE rounds up prospective wives for his father.

"BELLES ON THEIR TOES"

JUNIOR PLAY

The tragic assassination of President Kennedy caused the postponement of this year's junior play, "Belles on Their Toes." Originally scheduled for November 21 and 22, the performance was presented on November 29.

The play, a take-off from "Cheaper by the Dozen," centers around the struggles of the twelve Gilbreth children while their widowed mother makes a lecture tour of Europe.

The children's problems which range from chickenpox to exploding rootbeer, increase when Cousin Leora discovers they have rented a room to Mr. Hathaway, a complete stranger.

Just before Mother's return home, it appears that the family will have to separate. Upon Mrs. Gilbreth's arrival Mr. Hathaway brings back the Children's money that he took by mistake. He also found students for Mother's school, allowing the family to stay together.

JUNIOR HIGH

The junior high cheerleaders, composed of seven, eighth and ninth grade girls, gave much of their time and effort to raise the school spirit of the junior high.

In addition to cheering at every home game, they arranged three junior high student buses to support their away football games.

Taking part in the pep rallies by leading cheers and selling programs for varsity football and basketball games were the main activities performed by the group. The money acquired by selling programs was put into the cheerleading fund, which is used for the purchasing of new uniforms, sweaters, and letters.

New uniforms, purchased this year, gave the girls a greater incentive to do their best while cheering their team on to victory. Their attire consisted of blue jumpers with gold letters and white blouses.

Patsy Campbell, captain and experienced cheerleader, has shown the girls much about cheerleading.

The cheerleaders have organized two pep rallies for the junior high during their football and basketball season. The girls have cheered the junior high basketball team on to the best season in many years.

JR. HIGH CHORUS

The Blue and Gold Choir of Mars High School is made up of eighth and ninth graders who are interested in singing for enjoyment and public concerts. The membership is relatively small this year, and it serves as a training center for Senior Choir.

Throughout the year the chorus has taken part in the Thanksgiving Assembly, Christmas Concert, Matinee, Easter Vesper Service, and the Spring Concert.

CADET BAND

The Cadet Band concentrated on concert pieces this year, leaving the marching to the Varsity Band.

In addition to their spring concert, they displayed their talents during afternoon pep rallies.

The ever growing number of students in the junior high enabled them to use a wider variety of instruments.

Led by Clarence Ebner, they put forth their utmost effort to assist the Varsity Band in money raising projects.

LO-DOWN

EDITOR, Vicki Ball, and staff look over lay out.

The Junior High Lo-Down staff has achieved it's success this year by publishing six editions throughout the year, which kept the Junior High Students well-informed on school activities.

With Vicki Ball as editor and Diane Marburger as assistant editor, much time and effort was spent in meeting their deadlines. Phyllis Lapinski was responsible for the artwork which appeared in the newspaper.

This year the staff of the Junior High Lo-Down had no budget to meet; everything was taken care of by the school.

The paper contained a running article on the comparison of large and small schools, the pro and con side of each editorial which appeared, and news on all school activities. In one article a schedule of when school projects were due appeared.

The Lo-Down appeared from time to time with the Planet Dust in the local weekly paper, the Butler County News-Record.

Members on the staff of the Lo-Down interviewed Robert Simmons, the new Junior High Guidance counselor to get all the ideas on this new separate Junior High School program.

They also informed us of the class and homeroom officers of the Junior High classes and the projects which they have proposed to help students become better acquainted.

ART CLUB PROMOTES GOOD WILL

Whimsy Birds! These unusual paper creations provided interesting Christmas favors for the residents of the St. John's Lutheran Home in Mars. Thanksgiving, Easter, and Valentine's Day also gave the two branches of the junior high art club an excellent opportunity to display the club's purpose; which is to do service the enthusiastic sponsorship of the two art teachers, Mrs. Younker and Mr. Clay, for the school dances. Service being their main goal, they eagerly helped those who needed assistance.

The large number of students participating in this year's club made it necessary to divide the membership into two groups. Each unit chose a name for itself. "The Artistics" was the name chosen by the eighth and ninth grade group, which consisted of seventy members. The seventh grade club with twenty-five members called itself the "Potters and Painters."

PROJECTIONISTS

The large variety of audio-visual aids purchased during the past years has necessitated the Projectionist Club. Equipment, which the fifteen junior and senior boys must learn to operate and repair, consists of tape recorders, record players, projectors, and television sets.

Two unique pieces of equipment added this year are the overhead projector and the daylight viewer. The overhead projector is used to show pictures and charts on a movie screen. By using the daylight viewer, a teacher may present educational movies in a lighted classroom. To reserve these aids, teachers must notify the sponsors, Mr. Henicheck or Mr. Iman.

Lights! Curtain! Action! How familiar these words sound to the newly organized stage crew.

These are not the only things that the fifteen members are concerned with, however. The stage crew is responsible for all backstage work such as the scenery, the sound effects, and all of the many particulars connected with presenting a good production.

The stage crew, under the guidance of Mr. Marvin Clay and Mrs. Suzanne Younker, helped with all the school assemblies, plays, choral and band programs.

Community organizations which use the school auditorium and stage were also assisted by this group.

VARSITY CLUB

Striving to fulfill their purpose of promoting better athletics and sportsmanship, the Varsity Club sponsored two benefit basketball games. The first featured the women's faculty and girl's varsity team, while the men's faculty challenged the varsity team for the second game. The experience of the faculty overpowered the varsity as the teachers won 70 - 61.

Membership in the club is composed of those boys who have earned a varsity letter. For the first time in the history of Mars High, a letter can now be earned in a third sport—golf. Although there are seven students who have lettered in two sports; junior Steve Leone and senior, Tom Purvis seem to be the only likely candidates to letter in all three areas.

On January 11 the boys canvassed the surrounding area selling doughnuts. The profit from this sale enabled the club to purchase letters, sweaters, and jackets for the members.

Athletic director and club sponsor, Arno Thompson, has contributed much to aid these boys and raise the school spirit throughout the year.

The Future Business Leaders of America strive to make people aware of the mechanical abilities of the business person as well as his social abilities.

The club conducted the "penny a month" campaign again this year and the money they collected was sent to the Children's Hospital.

The members attended a spring regional meeting at Grove City in March, where contests were given in all areas of commercial study. Regional officers for the next year were also elected. The club looks forward to having one of their members elected to one of these offices next year.

The F.B.L.A. is under the leadership of Miss Rita Aloe.

LIBRARY AIDS

Teachers enjoyed tea and cookies prior to the Christmas vacation as the Library Aids honored them at a tea. Appropriate music was played and decorations of candles and ornaments set the holiday mood.

Among their regular duties in assisting Mrs. Vida Hudson, librarian, are card filing, repairing books, and helping the students find research material.

Students organized and elected officers and became members of the Butler County Student Librarians Association this year.

Label pins inscribed "Library," were purchased by the club as their official insignia.

Training and experience for future employment was gained by many senior members of the commercial department by assisting the school secretaries, Mrs. Althea Whitmyre and Mrs. Dorothy Price.

Answering the telephone, filing, typing, and mimeographing were some of the many duties assigned to these girls.

The Office Aides, sponsored by Mrs. Shirley Leslie also helped the guidance department by typing letters, college recommendations, and student statistics sheets.

Each of the senior girls majoring in the business field is entitled to become an Office Aide. Throughout the year students are chosen to fulfill these various duties.

Bookkeeping, stenography, secretarial, and clerical careers are looked forward to by these girls and the experience that they receive through this practice lays the basis for future employment.

LOIS Harris assists with evaluation material.

COACHES: Douds, Junior High; Danser, Varsity; Skacan, Junior Varsity.

Hard work brings success and the 1964 Mars High Planets proved it this year with spirit and potential not seen in a team at Mars for a long time. Their season record, 6 wins and 3 defeats is a record to be proudly remembered by the departing senior members of the team.

Throughout the season, casualties occurred, but this did not stop the prevailing team effort.

This victorious season was possible, not just through team effort, but through patience and hard work of their coach, Mr. Eugene Danser.

The Seniors of the team, who dominated the positions of the starting 11, proved to be the backbone of the team.

MARS vs KNOCH (26-19) Lost. A pass from Leone to Burtner on the first play from scrimmage put Mars on the board. Salsgiver with two and Gentile with one paced the Knoch team to victory in the closing minutes of the game.

MARS vs UNION (32-25) Lost. An exhibition of zig-zag running by halfback Dave Burtner, resulted in three tallies for Mars. Smith enlightened the contest for Union, by scoring three touchdowns in the second half. Thus spoiling the Planets chances to win. Ritchey also scored for Mars.

MARS vs DARLINGTON (46-21) Won. McCandless and Burtner paced the Planet team to its first victory by scoring three touchdowns apiece. Darlington couldn't handle the powerful Mars offense. Church was the leading ground gainer for Darlington but it was in vain.

MARS vs KARNES CITY (47-0) Won. Touchdowns by Burtner, McCandless, Ritchey, Hasley, and Wilds sparked the Mars offense and left the Gremlins stunned. The Mars defense put in its best performance by holding the Gremlins scoreless.

MARS vs EVANS CITY (33-25) Won. This year's game terminated the age old rivalry between Mars and Evans City coming out on top 33-25. Burtner, McCandless, and Peterson led the scoring attack for Mars. A rugged defense and a sparkling offense proved to be the deciding factor in the victory.

MARS vs ZELIENOPLE (25-0) Won. McCandless and Butner with two touchdowns apiece were the deciding factors in the contest with the Bears. Good blocking and fine defensive playing contained Zelienville all night. This was the final game between Mars and Zelienville because next year Evans City and Zelienville are merging together to form Seneca High School.

MARS vs BELLEVUE (13-0) Lost. Bellevues' aerial attack proved too much for the Planets as they went down to defeat 13-0. Smalley and Black did the scoring for the Bulldogs while the Planets tried in vain to stop their attack.

MARS vs RICHLAND (27-13) Won. McCandless led the scoring for the Planets with two very fine runs of 62 and 96 yards. The inclement weather kept the aerial attack of Mars down but the rushing attack of Mars kept the game alive with Ritchey and Burtner eating up yardage and scoring a touchdown apiece.

MARS vs MONITEAU (19-6) Won. Mars ended the season in the rain, but despite the mud, Mars came out on top 19-6 at Moniteau. On the first play from scrimmage, Ritchey broke loose and ran 40 yards to the Moniteau 25 yard line. A few plays later he scored the first of his two touchdowns. Purvis set up the second touchdown by snaring a 60 yard pass from quarterback Leone. Burtner scored his record setting 16th touchdown of the year.

The Junior Varsity Football team, which consisted mainly of sophomores, had a record of two wins, three losses, and two tied games. They did not improve last year's record, but the experience gained was invaluable.

Mr. Edmund Skacan, the J. V. coach, spent much time training the boys. They were not only taught the techniques of the game, but also the art of good sportsmanship, which makes a good team.

Many members of the team also contributed much to the Varsity team and increased the chances for next year's season.

The school spirit displayed at each game gave the boys the initiative to play their best, as a team.

Varsity Basketball

For the second straight year, under the direction of coach John Henicheck, the Planets won over one-half of their games. This year's record of 13 wins and 8 losses tied the all-time record for the most wins in a single season.

Once again the pre-league season was highlighted by the capture of first place in the Holiday Tournament. The squad defeated Laurel and Richland to achieve this honor. The planets placed three players in the all-star team.

In the regular Butler County League the Mars High Planets finished in third place with a record of nine victories and five defeats. The Planets started very fast in league play by winning eight out of their nine contests, but then experienced a complete reverse. The team ended the season losing four of their last five games. This year's team provided the fans with plenty of excitement, for they were not out of the race until the first three games of the season.

The team was capably assisted by Mr. Ed Totin.

Unlike the Varsity team, the Junior Varsity squad couldn't manage a winning season. Statistics on this year's team show a record of 8 wins and 11 losses. Total points for this year are 877, composed of 355 field goals, and 167 free throws.

Although this year's team had a losing season, certain players were outstanding from the field. Players such as Dave Balfour with 518 minutes of playing time, Bob Cleva, high team scorer with 227 points, and Dale Trimber, a new man loaded with potential, brought many thrills to Planet fans. These boys should add much class and experience to next year's Planet team.

BOB CLEVA adds two more to the score.

JUNIOR HIGH CAPTAINS AND COACH—C. Clark, D. Braley, and Coach, Mr. Crist

The junior high basketball team this year had the best season in the history of junior high basketball at Mars High School. They ended the season with a record of 8 wins and 2 losses. These victories were due to a combination of team effort and the coaching of Michael Crist. This season was highlighted by a closing victory over the intramural basketball champs.

VARSITY COACH, MANAGER, and CAPTAINS: Mrs. Church, S. Hamilton, L. Baumgartel, C. Renick.

Under the direction of their new coach, Mrs. Nancy Church, the girls' basketball team experienced many thrilling moments. What the girls lacked in skill, they made up in determination.

Mrs. Church also had many new experiences as this was her first year of coaching a basketball team. She was very patient and her help and good spirit was commuted to the team. A desire to win and good sportsmanship was prevalent at all games.

The J. V. team experienced a better season. With the knowledge gained by these girls and the returning lettermen, the future looks bright.

The girls learned to play as a team and made many new friends through their efforts. Both teams were always proud to represent their school.

The Mars High gym team provides capable students with an opportunity to participate in a sport during the spring. In its second year of operation, the boys' gym team is sponsored by Mr. Paul Douds. The team consists of 27 members all from the senior high. The captain, elected by the members, is senior, Terry Westerman and the co-captain is junior, Bob Hile.

The girls' gym team is sponsored by Mrs. Darlene Weinzettl. Affiliated with the boys' team, both groups combine for the annual exhibition. Practice began early in March and the activities of the team consisted of different members specializing on different pieces of the apparatus.

At the May 20 exhibition, sweatshirts with the slogan, "Mars High Gym Team," were presented to all members.

To a real sweet kid
I had the pleasure of meeting this year always stay as cute as you will never forget our badminton games we had house, what was Berky was never forget
I had to remember whenever we lost them we never forget a nose
P.J. Diller we had to remember really a blast into her cellar going to push you into her cellar heard that strange noise delicious never forget all those times we walked into mass just to buy beagle books remember you on time you get my hair look you on time you get it to get your word to buy you a long so she word to buy you
I had to you word to buy you a lot of hair because she

INE PRINTING SINCE 1887—

That's the story of Foote & Davies.

Today we have one of the most modern and best equipped plants in the country. And fine Yearbooks have always been an important part of our business. Our craftsmen believe in quality and strive to produce the "best in the Industry." Our excellent printing doesn't just happen—it's a combination of production research, craftsmanship, and painstaking supervision.

Mike, (the great)
To the cutest kid in our gang. Always remember the fun and the good times we all had together.
Remember the ~~stuff~~ we did in Mrs Miles room during History class. Also remember that you were the dumbest kid in Health class, cause I was
I hope we get together next year. We probably won't cause I'll probably be in Special Ed.
Keep up your nice
